

There are numerous Midwest and West Coast states, as well as Canadian provinces, that allow two trailers to be pulled in train. The gross payloads, overall lengths and number of axles allowed are all decided by the DOT offices of those states or provinces. Please contact SmithCo to discuss which configuration might work for your area.